Pupils received at any time during the term, and charged from the time of entrance. No deduction will be made for absences, except at the option of the Principals.

We sincerely hope, and earnestly request, that parents will not interfere with the regular duties of their children, by allowing them to spend a few days, or longer, at home, during the session, as it seriously impedes their progress in their studies.

The Boarders are expected to furnish their own towels, table napkins, one pair sheets, one pair pillow cases, and one counterpane. Every article of clothing should be distinctly marked.

We endeavor to promote a correct sense of honor and propriety in the young ladies entrusted to our care, and to induce them to realize their own responsibility and accountability for the opportunities afforded them.

There will be a private examination at the end of the scholastic year, at which the teachers and parents or guardians will be present. We disapprove of public examinations, but our recitation rooms are open to the friends of the school, who may desire to hear the classes recite.

The Boarders are treated as members of the family, and lady-like deportment, and propriety of conduct are expected and required. In the afternoons they engage in study for an hour and a half, after which, they take a walk. In the evening they assemble as a family, with the teachers, where improving books are read aloud, instructive conversation carried on, or diverting games introduced.

As our object is to lay a good foundation upon which to build, special attention is paid to Spelling, Reading, Grammar and Arithmetic, in all the classes.

The School is not sectarian. The Boarders will attend the churches designated by their parents or guardians, accompanied by a teacher.

Lincolnton is a healthy, pleasant village, immediately on the Railroad, and within thirty miles of Charlotte. The Alum water, of which there are several wells, has been found beneficial to persons of delicate constitutions, which may be a recommendation to those living in more unhealthy regions.
